The Austin office opened in February 2010 with a core group of experienced litigators from Austin and Houston. The lawyers brought experience in a wide range of commercial litigation, healthcare litigation, bankruptcy, serious personal injury and death cases and products liability litigation. Consistent with the quality and depth of experience in other HPTY offices, the Austin attorneys serve as national and regional counsel for companies around the country, in addition to representing corporate clients, small businesses and individuals in the state's capital. The lawyers also bring familiarity with state agencies and the Texas legislature.
