The Dallas office opened in 2003 in response to growing client demand in the state of Texas. The office is dedicated to litigation and litigation prevention in business disputes, labor and employment, toxic tort, products liability, commercial litigation and other complex litigation in Texas as well as Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and others states. The Dallas office combines the firm's peerless reputation in the courtroom with the leadership of preeminent trial lawyers. Since its opening, the Dallas office has grown to 20 attorneys serving clients across the country. On the home front, the Dallas office continues to strengthen the position of defendants sued in Texas courts by advocating for tort reform efforts designed to limit baseless claims filed in the state.
