

Representative Clients

Hawkins Parnell Thackston & Young LLP represents some of America's largest corporations including industrial facilities, consumer products manufacturers, retailers, chemical companies, banks and financing institutions, automotive manufacturers, insurance companies, food and beverage companies, airlines, oil and natural gas companies and construction companies. In fact, HPTY has represented over 100 of the companies on the current Fortune 500 list.

In addition, HPTY represents small local businesses and individuals clients in high risk litigation and business disputes across the country.

No matter the size of the client or the case, HPTY lawyers are committed to strong, solid advocacy to bring the case to a resolution in the client's best interest.